One of the most important verses in this section is An Nisaa 024, which states that "And marry women of your choice, two or three or four; but if you fear that you will not be just, then [marry only] one or those your right hands possess." This verse has been interpreted by some scholars to mean that polygamy is permissible in Islam, while others have argued that it is only permitted in exceptional circumstances.

The verses from An Nisaa 024 to An Nisaa 034 also address the issue of divorce. These verses set out the grounds for divorce, as well as the procedures that must be followed in Free Download to obtain a divorce.

An Nisaa 035-114: Inheritance

The verses from An Nisaa 035 to An Nisaa 114 deal with the topic of inheritance. These verses set out the rules for distributing the estate of a deceased person among their heirs. The rules of inheritance in Islam are based on the principle of equity, and they ensure that all of the deceased person's heirs receive a fair share of the estate.

One of the most important verses in this section is An Nisaa 035, which states that "For men there is a share from what their parents and close relatives leave, and for women there is a share from what their parents and close relatives leave, whether it be little or much - a legal share."

The verses from An Nisaa 035 to An Nisaa 114 also address the issue of wills. These verses set out the rules for making a will, as well as the conditions that must be met in Free Download for a will to be valid.

An Nisaa 115-147: Women's Rights

The verses from An Nisaa 115 to An Nisaa 147 deal with the topic of women's rights. These verses address a wide range of issues, including women's right to education, work, and property.

One of the most important verses in this section is An Nisaa 115, which states that "Men are in charge of women by [right of] what Allah has given one over the other and what they spend [for maintenance] from their wealth. So righteous women are devoutly obedient, guarding in [the husband's] absence what Allah would have them guard. But those from whom you fear arrogance - [first] advise them; [then if they persist], forsake them in bed; and [finally], strike them. But if they obey you [once more], seek no means against them. Indeed, Allah is ever Exalted and Grand."

This verse has been interpreted by some scholars to mean that men have the right to physically discipline their wives, while others have argued that this verse should be interpreted in a more figurative sense.

The verses from An Nisaa 115 to An Nisaa 147 also address the issue of women's testimony. These verses set out the rules for accepting women's testimony in court, as well as the conditions that must be met in Free Download for a woman's testimony to be considered valid.
